

EE 492 WEEKLY REPORT 11*Date: 11/9/16 - 11/16/16Group number: DEC1608Project title: Reiman Garden Butterfly Interpretation ApplicationClient: Nathan Brockman -- Curator, Christina Reiman Butterfly WingAdvisor: Dr. RoverWeekly Summary (Short summary about what you did this week)

This week is the end of sprint 6

We meet with Dr. Amariucaí to show our second presentation. Overall he seemed pleased with the state of our project and of the presentation. He advised making the videos demoing our project be made shorter or that we practice talking over them so that there isn't quite so much silence while the video played.

The images used on the search page need to be updated. When the site was created, we needed place holders for the images so we could continue developing. We just grabbed whatever images we could to fill the space. Up until now, replacing the images has been a rather low priority. Now, the fact that we don't have the copyright to these images is preventing us from showing it in the butterfly wing. These images need to be replaced as soon as possible.

Work has begun on the import export functionality. The library for handling the excel files seems to work well, and it shouldn't be much longer until the utility is ready to be merged in.

The homepage has for the most part been untouched since we started this project. This week we got around to updating the homepage. These updates include adding the featured butterfly of the day, removing some links that are no longer relevant and adding the "Nathan's Notes".

Past week accomplishments

- Work on Import / Export Utils
- Work started on selecting a random featured butterfly of the day
- Search functionality for searching in / out of the wing working (not merged yet)

Plan for coming week

- Finish those tasks that were started
- Update all images on the search page.
